

1949 TROJAN

DEDICATION

With fond admiration and appreciation for the many years of loyal service and inspiration to the youth of Wilson, N. C., we the Senior Class of 1949, do hereby dedicate this issue of the Trojan to Mrs. Eleanor P. Reid.

Prior to retirement in May, 1944, Mrs. Reid served the Public Schools of North Carolina for fifty years, including forty-four active years in the Wilson City Schools, of which she spent twenty-five as classroom teacher and twenty more as principal of the present Sallie Barbour Elementary School.

In addition to maintaining the best rapport between teachers and pupils, she inspired many youths to continue their formal education, and aided in the improvement of the local community by giving, generously, her time, efforts, and finance. Thus she upheld her philosophy of education: "Education should enable individuals to live happier, more useful, and more responsible lives."
